Progressive Jazz

Fünfmalfünf is a band project that unites five young musicians in a fivefold way.

Their music is powerful and energetic, taking the listener through various musical landscapes, sculpted by the band's defining sound character:

Simultaneous instrumental vocal lines sound to the five-string violin as well as the singing sound of the saxophone, supported by a pulsing fundament of bass, piano and drums.

In innovative original compositions, these elements merge as the band's unique sound.
